Invitation to Attend

The Asian Studies Association of Australia invites you to participate in the 15th Biennial Conference in Canberra in mid-2004. The Conference will be held in Canberra's National Convention Centre and is an opportunity to showcase current work in any aspect of Asian Studies. The Conference therefore will address a wide variety of themes, including religious change, political authority, migration, terror and violence, architecture, poverty and wealth creation, gender, bilateral trade agreements and the state of the profession.

Conference Organising Committee

Supported by an Academic Program Committee drawn from the wider Canberra academic community.

We acknowledge the generous assistance of the Australian National University in supporting this Conference.

Canberra

The nation's capital is centrally located between the Australian Alps and Sydney. The blend of city life mixed with international atmosphere and country charms makes it an appealing destination for all visitors.

The Conference takes place in winter which is spectacular in Canberra with mild days that are crisp and clear with sunny blue skies. You can admire the view from the surrounding lookouts Red Hill, Black Mountain, Mount Pleasant and Mount Ainslie.

The city's many attractions such as the Australian War Memorial, Old Parliament House, Questacon—The National Science and Technology Centre, the National Museum of Australia and the National Gallery of Australia mean there is always something interesting to do or see. Wining and dining is possible in the numerous restaurants offering excellent international cuisine—influenced in part by the nearly 100 diplomatic missions that are located in Canberra.

You can access the Canberra Tourism website at www.canberraturism.com.au to learn about some of Canberra's treasures and help you plan other activities for June/July 2004.
